

2015 Origin JOHAN PINOT NOIR willamette valley

As far as we know, this is the first bottling of pure 943 in Oregon history. Some may think we're crazy, isolating a clone such as 943, but the wine was simply too distinctive not to isolate at least the very best barrels. This is the only Origin wine produced in 2015, the only wine in the cellar that we felt warranted this distinct label. Clone 943 was brought into the United States around the same time as most Dijon clones, but in fact is not designated a Dijon clone. It's red-fruit characters and soft tannins meld with the savory spice common in fruit from Johan Vineyard's site in the Van Duzer corridor.

ALC.	13.0%
CLONES.	943
SOILS.	Sedimentary
WHOLE CLUSTER.	70%
AGING.	New & neutral French oak
CASES PRODUCED.	99

CRAFTWINECO.COM