2016 minimus #23 “NOIR”

“Noir” is our representation of what we think Willamette Valley red wine could be. We’ve been working with single varietals for long enough to understand both their problems and their nuances, and to conclude that the best Oregon wine is probably going to comprise several of those varietals. #23 does so in a way that makes them shine like never before. We fermented each of these as single lots, with varying levels of whole cluster, then blended them together to create what we think is one of our best wines to date.
